

PRECOCIOUS

The apricot gets its name from the Latin word, præcox, meaning early ripe. The word, precocious, comes from the same source.

In its native habitat, Armenia, where the apricot flowers very early, it may truly be called precocious;

But at CHILDS, where it blossoms on the menu all the year round, the apricot is a perfectly normal fruit.

Its piquant tartness is just the right tonic for tired appetites.

PUTNAM BOOKS AND AUTHORS

DO NOT
laugh, cry, wait, talk, sneeze, eat, sleep, gamble, pray, or even think, worry or get married until you fortify yourself with a copy of NONSENSE-ORSHIP

Being Sundry Observations Concerning Prohibitions, Exhibitions and Illegals.

By Heywood Brown, George Chappell, Ruth Hale, Ben Hecht, Wallace Irwin, Robert Keable, Helen Bullitt Lowry, Frederick O'Brien, Dorothy Parker, Frank Swinnerton, H. M. Tomlinson, Charles Hanson Towne, John V. A. Weaver, Alexander Woolcott.

Things you want to do, and like to do, discussed unreservedly and amusingly by people admirably equipped by experience and otherwise to do so. It may not change the depth of the Blue, but will give it a rough washing.

The pictures by Ray Barton are worth a DEMAND your copy of Nonsense-Orship.

This is little Rollo. Yes, the same little Rollo, hero of your childhood, revived and deliciously modernized. Under the guidance of George S. Chappell, well-known moralist and missionary, our hero gives New York the once over.

ROLLO IN SOCIETY
you are going to miss 47 laughs, 34 questionable quips and 19 of G. S. C.'s sizzling slaps at modern customs. "Rollo in Society" is immense. Hogarth, Jr., contributes some splendid likenesses of the Rollo family and some of their intimates, secret and regular.

Charles Hanson Towne
in his novel
THE CHAIN

opens the flood-gates of memory, with his romance of twenty-five years ago. A lovely thing, fragrant with recollections of people, places and customs of the dim but not distant past. Mr. Towne's poetry is not more exquisite than this delightful novel.

Ridgwell Cullum's Novel
THE MAN IN THE TWILIGHT
relates the herculean efforts of two strong men to gain control of the wood pulp industry in Labrador. The New York Tribune says, "There's plenty of mystery, more action than a six-reel movie, and a lot of good entertaining talk, flavored with native humor. Altogether, this is great value for the money."

One bombshell like "Behind the Mirrors" does more to clean up our national politics than a year's supply of conversation. Try it before voting.

G. P. P.
Dutch Combination of Brick and Lime-Sandstone Factories offer their products for export to AMERICA and therefore want to get into touch with WHOLESALERS DEALERS. Only persons with sufficient capital who are in a position to conclude important contracts can be considered.

DRIESSEN & VERHAGEN,
LEERDAM, HOLLAND.

POISONED WHISKY'S DEATH TOLL ELEVEN

Two Men Going Blind First Joke, Not Believing They Are Victims.

RUSTON PLANS RAIDS

May Not Wait for Warrants—Will 'Hit First and Then Apologize.'

ANOTHER WOMAN SEIZED

Red Hook Investigation Fails to Show Source of Wood Alcohol Supply.

The liquor that is being sold somewhere in the Red Hook section of Brooklyn killed two more persons yesterday, and in spite of numerous raids by the police and members of the District attorney's staff the authorities seem to be as far as ever from finding the actual source of the deadly poison. The deaths now number eleven since Monday night, and another is dying in the Kings County Hospital.

The latest victims are Martin Connolly, 55, a compositor, and his brother-in-law, Thomas Padden, both of whom died within a few hours of each other in their house at 80 Dikeman street. Connolly came home Wednesday night complaining of pain in his eyes and told his brother-in-law that he had visited an eye and ear clinic in Manhattan where he had been told he would probably go blind. At that time the trouble was diagnosed as an "infection" due to lead poisoning. Later in the night Padden was threatened with the same suffering, and both men joked about the prevalence of wood alcohol in the vicinity and facetiously predicted their respective deaths. The prophecy came true early yesterday. Connolly dying first and Padden three hours later.

Every place in the block on Conover street, that is becoming known as the plague spot of the neighborhood on account of the testimony of the victims, was searched by the police under the personal direction of District Attorney Ruston. All the places adjoining the grocery store at 149 Conover street conducted by Mrs. Imelinda Vatala, who is under arrest for homicide in connection with the death of Mrs. Theresa Martin.

Another Woman Arrested.
The fourth arrest was made when the police took into custody Mrs. Margaret Polozola, of 149 Conover street, after finding a chest in her rooms filled with six demijohns and six quart bottles of whisky. She was held for violating the Mullen-Gabe act and also as a material witness in the death of Connolly. All the liquor taken from Mrs. Vatala's place has been found to contain wood alcohol, according to the District Attorney's office, but they expect to have some difficulty proving that Michael Keenan, with whom Mrs. Martin boarded and who also died, bought the poison liquor and drank it. District Attorney Ruston said last night that he expects the emergency every place in Red Hook suspected of harboring liquor, regardless of whether the authorities are provided with the proper warrants or not. "This is a situation in which a man has to hit first and apologize afterwards," he said.

A private garage owned by Mrs. Vatala at 139 Wolcott street was raided last night by detectives of the Hamilton avenue station and three five gallon cans, one completely filled, another half filled and the third empty were found on the premises. Despite the fact that the district is not one populated by persons of means, Mrs. Vatala, according to some of the detectives, was able to maintain a motor and a chauffeur, and when arrested was prosperously dressed.

When detectives were searching her living rooms her sister arrived and was apparently greatly excited over the safety of her sister's belongings. Mrs. Vatala, she said, had jewels and "lots of money."

The District Attorney's office prepared evidence to be presented to the Grand Jury to-day in connection with the Vatala arrest.

The Dead.

The list of the dead is as follows: John Kehoe, 156 Conover street. Miss Tessie Martin, 135 Dikeman street. Mrs. Annie Morris, 187 Conover street. Peter McDermott, 70 Stuyvesant street. Peter Carr, 429 Van Brunt street. Edward Burke, 143 Pioneer street. William Sterlitz, 187 Conover street. Michael Keenan, 135 Dikeman street. S. J. Johnson, 199 Conover street. Martin Connolly, 89 Dikeman street. Thomas Padden, 180 Dikeman street. Anthony De Janero was taken to the Kings County Hospital from his home at 149 Van Brunt street and was found to be suffering from wood alcohol poisoning. He was blind when he reached the hospital.

De Janero said he had a few drinks with some friends in a house on Conover street Sunday and Monday night, but he did not remember the names, although he could find the house. His condition is serious and he is believed to be dying.

William Coates, a negro, 39 years old, of Franklin and Summer street, Paterson, N. J., died yesterday from an overdose of whisky. It was not found that the liquor was poisoned.

It was believed at first that Coates had been a victim of foul play. He was found dead in the yard of his home by his wife. She reported to the police that he had been drinking heavily.

JAIL TERM IN LIQUOR CASE UPHELD BY COURT
Newark Restaurateur Loses Appeal in U. S. Court.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—The conviction and sentence of James J. Jlanne, a restaurateur keeper of Newark, N. J., to six months in the Mercer county jail and fines totaling $2,000 by Judge Holt in the New Jersey Federal Court for violating the prohibition law, was sustained to-day by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here.

FOUND ANTERIOR
If so, see if it is advertised in the Last and Found columns of to-day's New York Herald.

GETS SURPRISE OF $30,000 BY WILL OF MAN HE RESCUED

Capt. Vanderveer Inherits Estate as Wife of Benefactor Dies—Saved Him in 1909 From Drowning During Storm Off Atlantic Highlands.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 7.—The fancies of the fiction writers were verified to a certain extent here to-day when Capt. John W. Vanderveer of 33 Oliver street learned that to him had been left the $30,000 estate of Patrick Lang of Atlantic Highlands as a reward for saving Lang's life fifteen years ago. The estate was willed originally to Mrs. Lang, with the proviso that at her death it should go to Vanderveer. Mrs. Lang died only a short time ago. Capt. Vanderveer was notified of his good fortune by William M. Foster, an attorney of New York and Atlantic Highlands. Vanderveer went to Foster's office in New York, where he learned that the estate consisted of bank deposits in Brooklyn, an interest in a Brooklyn business and also an interest in another property with an assessed valuation of $7,000. Capt. Vanderveer said he had not heard until yesterday that Lang had mentioned him in his will. Lang was rescued by Vanderveer in September, 1909, off the rocks at Port Monmouth, N. J. Lang was one of five passengers in a motorboat returning from a fishing trip off the Highlands. They were swept upon the rocks off the Port, and Capt. Vanderveer, standing near by in his motorboat Jack, saw their peril. Two of the men were saved by other fishermen and Capt. Vanderveer plunged into the sea and got Lang safely to the Jack. Two of the five men were drowned.

JURY INDICTS SIX IN ALCOHOL PLOT

Ex-Bolshevik Counsel Among Those Accused in $1,000,000 Conspiracy.

Indictments against a group of six persons accused of complicity in a plot to smuggle $1,000,000 worth of grain alcohol in evasion of the Government tax were made public yesterday by Major John Holley Clark, Jr., at the office of the United States District Attorney.

Included in the indictment is the name of Alexander Karlin, who has since left the country, but who gained at the time some prominence through his connection as counsel with the Bolshevik bureau maintained here by Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, the self-styled ambassador of the Soviet Government prior to his deportation. Two of the defendants appeared before Judge Rufus W. Foster yesterday and after entering tentative pleas of not guilty were released on bonds of $5,000 each for final pleading. They were Harry K. Barr of the Barr Shipping Corporation of 25 Beaver street, and John A. Kirsch, a commission merchant of 165 Hudson street.

The other four men, including Karlin, are being sought, but all are believed to have left the country. The only man who has stood trial is Capt. Daniel Dougherty, who was convicted and is now serving a term of a year and a day in the Atlanta Penitentiary. He was the owner of the tramp steamship Javary from which the alcohol was unloaded in New York after having cleared from Baltimore with the ostensible purpose of proceeding to Constantinople. Thirty-six drums are alleged to have been emptied here before the fraud was discovered.

Four of the indictments concern the illicit landing of the goods, while a fifth charges subornation of perjury in inducing Capt. Dougherty to testify that he knew nothing about the plot to land the alcohol. Major Clark said he believed Dougherty had been a tool of the conspirators, and had bought the Javary out of his life's savings of $42,000. The ship was confiscated and sold by the Government for $15,000. Dougherty contended afterward that he had been led to believe all along that the tax had been paid.

The others named in the indictment are Harry Marks, an employee of Kirsch; George C. Gaede, a commission merchant with an office on Grand street, and William P. Prendergast.

AUTHOR ATTACKS DRY'S LIBEL SUIT DEFENSE
Stout Asks to Have Technicalities Stricken Out.

Judge Martin T. Manton of the Federal District Court was asked yesterday to strike out certain technical defenses raised by the group of clergymen and prohibitionists who are being sued by Charles Taber Stout, an author of Portland, Conn., for $250,000 damages for an alleged libel published in the American Issue, an organ of the Anti-Saloon League. The defendants are W. F. Anderson, who is the State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League; the Rev. Dr. David J. Burrell, the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, Edward C. Miller, George Cahoon and others. Stout maintains that his good name was injured by the publication of an article in which he was described as a manufacturer of dog remedies, a patent medicine which the American Medical Association unmasked in 1917. The suit sets forth that the plaintiff is a man of high professional and business standing and well known in industrial and educational circles in New York.

WARRANT OUT FOR KLAN HEAD.

Charges Clarke Had Liquor During Law Enforcement Talk.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 7.—A writ for the arrest of Edward Y. Clarke, Imperial Wizard pro tem. of the Ku Klux Klan, was ordered this afternoon by Federal Judge Francis E. Baker on information charging Clarke, whose home is in Atlanta, Ga., with possession and transportation of liquor. It is alleged that while the Imperial Wizard was addressing a meeting at Muncie, Ind., last night on "Law Enforcement," it was reported to the police that a hand bag had been stolen from Mr. Clarke's automobile. It is alleged, however, that the bag fell from the automobile and burst open, revealing a quart bottle of liquor and $500 in currency. The evidence, it is declared, has been placed in charge of the prohibition officers.

Judge Baker fixed bonds for Clarke at $2,000.

PLAN BIG DRIVE ON BEER.

Dry Chiefs Propose to Halt Production of "Real Stuff."
WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A campaign against brewers whose products contain an illegal percentage of alcohol will be mapped out at a conference to be held at the Department of Justice September 12. It was said to-day at prohibition headquarters.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes and prohibition directors from various States, it was said, will meet with legal experts of the department to discuss the most effective legal weapons in the hands of the Government to prevent the manufacture of beer containing more than one-half of one per cent. of alcohol.

NEGRO LYNNED IN TEXAS.

BEAUMONT, Tex., Sept. 7.—O. J. Johnson, a negro, twice tried on a charge of murder, was taken from the jail at Newton to-day, strung to a tree limb and his body riddled with bullets.

Marine Patrol Brings Glendoveer and 712 Cases of Scotch Into Port.
SHIP A CHARTERED ONE
W. H. Park of East Second Street, Brooklyn, Owner of $50,000 Schooner.

SCRAP RICH FITTINGS
Expensive Interior Torn Away to Make Room for Supply of Whisky.

One of the biggest bootlegging prizes of the year was captured yesterday by two patrolmen of the Marine Division in lower Long Island Sound. Seven hundred and twelve cases of Scotch whisky piled ceiling-high in the narrow quarters of the Harbor Police at Pier A, valued at $70,000, and a $50,000 schooner yacht moored at the Battery sea wall were the visible results of the raids.

The vessel was the Glendoveer, a twin screw auxiliary sailing yacht belonging to William H. Park of 1072 East Second street, Brooklyn. She looked a little disheveled. She had been virtually torn to pieces to provide space for the liquor. Expensive fittings had been yanked out, and berths saved away.

The crew was forced to sleep on the top of piles of cases and even the galley was packed so tightly with cases that the ship's stove was virtually buried. Incidentally, the crew was the tightest lipped bunch of seamen the police have had to deal with in some time. A three hours' questioning at the police station failed to reveal a single fact of the vessel's ownership or destination.

"Just Sailing Around."
"Oh, we were just sailing around" and "We don't know" were the usual answers. The men were garbed in odds and ends of clothing and there was nothing to denote which of the crew assumed command of the vessel. A telephone inquiry at the Park home was answered by Mrs. Park, who said her husband was "out of town" and not expected for several days. She admitted his ownership of the vessel, and when informed that it had been seized she added that it had been chartered to someone else on August 31.

Patrolmen Gross and Tomb were running up the sound in a small launch early in the morning when they sighted, through the mist, the outline of the Glendoveer proceeding under her own power and headed for the East River. They followed her from a point off Port Schuyler down the East River to 124th street, where she was ordered to put to shore.

After the men were arrested, the police sent the tug Manhattan to tow the run-runner to Pier A at the Battery, where the cargo was unloaded and placed under guard in the police station.

All the cases were marked St. Johns. New Brunswick, but whether the cargo was actually shipped on the Glendoveer

YACHT WITH $70,000 LIQUOR CARGO SEIZED

Marine Patrol Brings Glendoveer and 712 Cases of Scotch Into Port.

SHIP A CHARTERED ONE

W. H. Park of East Second Street, Brooklyn, Owner of $50,000 Schooner.

SCRAP RICH FITTINGS

Expensive Interior Torn Away to Make Room for Supply of Whisky.

One of the biggest bootlegging prizes of the year was captured yesterday by two patrolmen of the Marine Division in lower Long Island Sound. Seven hundred and twelve cases of Scotch whisky piled ceiling-high in the narrow quarters of the Harbor Police at Pier A, valued at $70,000, and a $50,000 schooner yacht moored at the Battery sea wall were the visible results of the raids.

The vessel was the Glendoveer, a twin screw auxiliary sailing yacht belonging to William H. Park of 1072 East Second street, Brooklyn. She looked a little disheveled. She had been virtually torn to pieces to provide space for the liquor. Expensive fittings had been yanked out, and berths saved away.

The crew was forced to sleep on the top of piles of cases and even the galley was packed so tightly with cases that the ship's stove was virtually buried. Incidentally, the crew was the tightest lipped bunch of seamen the police have had to deal with in some time. A three hours' questioning at the police station failed to reveal a single fact of the vessel's ownership or destination.

"Just Sailing Around."

"Oh, we were just sailing around" and "We don't know" were the usual answers. The men were garbed in odds and ends of clothing and there was nothing to denote which of the crew assumed command of the vessel. A telephone inquiry at the Park home was answered by Mrs. Park, who said her husband was "out of town" and not expected for several days. She admitted his ownership of the vessel, and when informed that it had been seized she added that it had been chartered to someone else on August 31.

Patrolmen Gross and Tomb were running up the sound in a small launch early in the morning when they sighted, through the mist, the outline of the Glendoveer proceeding under her own power and headed for the East River. They followed her from a point off Port Schuyler down the East River to 124th street, where she was ordered to put to shore.

After the men were arrested, the police sent the tug Manhattan to tow the run-runner to Pier A at the Battery, where the cargo was unloaded and placed under guard in the police station.

All the cases were marked St. Johns. New Brunswick, but whether the cargo was actually shipped on the Glendoveer

Franklin Simon & Co.

A Store of Individual Shops
FIFTH AVENUE, 37th and 38th STS.

For The First Time
For Children 4 to 10 yrs.

ELKSKIN SCHOOL SHOES

Chocolate Colored

Small descendants of the original elkskin boots which gave years of service to the old hunters and trappers. Like their ancestors, they are a most unusual combination of pliability and durability—but are neat and smart looking—the ideal school shoe.

Ages 4 to 5
SIZES 8½ to 10½
5.00

Ages 6 to 10
SIZES 11 to 2
6.00

CHILDREN'S SHOE SHOP—Third Floor

TIFFANY & Co.

FIFTH AVENUE & 37th STREET

PEARLS JEWELRY SILVERWARE

EX-PREACHER'S WIFE FINALLY GETS DIVORCE

Mrs. Cordova Began Suit 15 Years After Husband Elop.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PHOENIX, Sept. 7.—Three years after bringing suit, Mrs. Francis E. Cordova of Atlantic Highlands has obtained a final decree of divorce from her husband, J. Frank Cordova, a former Methodist minister of South River, who created a sensation eighteen years ago by eloping with Julia Bowne, a young member of his choir.

Cordova and Miss Bowne went to New Mexico and the former minister wrote to his wife from Texas saying he wished to return home. Subsequently Mrs. Cordova met her husband in Brooklyn, but his failure to contribute to her support or that of his three young children resulted in a warrant for his arrest on charges of assault and desertion. Cordova served one year in State prison for desertion and three years for assaulting his wife.

COMMODITY PRICES UP IN A NARROW RANGE
One Group Higher, Another Lower in Index Number.

Bradstreet's index number as of September 1 was $12.0793, an increase of eight hundredths of 1 per cent. over the August 1 figure of $12.0688. Of the commodities which enter into the compilation of the index number six advanced and six declined, while one group remained unchanged, accounting for the narrowness of the movement.

The September 1 number shows a gain of 8.9 per cent. over August 1 a year ago and of 14.7 per cent. over the low point of recent years, reached June 1, 1921. Compared with the peak of February 1, 1920, the September 1 number shows a decline of 32 per cent. and an increase of 38 per cent. over the level of August 1, 1914.

Saks & Company

Broadway at 34th Street

A Sale of 1,500 Men's Pajamas

at 1.45

PAJAMAS cut full so as to allow ample freedom, and to encourage sound sleep. They are pajamas that at once win your confidence because of their splendid making and the fine quality of the materials. Cotton pongee and striped percales in the collection, finished with frogs or severely plain. Guaranteed fast colors. Small to large sizes

Blanket Cloth BATH ROBES

4.95

Were 6.50 and 7.50

Some are made of the famous "Beacon Cloth"—the rest are of warm, soft, comfortable material from Overseas. Some have convertible—others have shawl collars. Colors are blue, grey, green, brown, tan—and fancy patterns.

A chance here for the college man or the prep school young man to save money. Fifth Floor

Boys' Sturdy School Shoes

Special 4.85

In tan or black leather; sizes from 2½ to 6. Made to last, and over-lasts that allow for the growth of a growing foot—Usual values. Fifth Floor

Imported English Ash Walking Sticks
Special at 1.95

Imported Walking Sticks
Special at 3.50

Malacca, Ebony, Whangee, Pimento, and other woods. Trimmed with sterling silver and imitation tortoise-shell handles.

Men's All Silk and Union Taffeta UMBRELLAS

Special at 5.95 Formerly 8.50

Made of the finest quality silk taffeta and Union silk. Strong paragon frame. Light and dark wood handles, trimmed with sterling silver bands and caps.